LABOR ACCIDENTS.
What It Costs the State of New York to Pay Compensation.

What New York state loses in accident expense is told in part tersely and concisely by William C. Archer in his annual report on the bureau of compensation of the State Industrial Commission.

There are in New York state 200,000 employers and 2,000,000 employees under the compensation law. They receive an annual total wage of $1,000,- 000,000.

There are 315,000 accidents a year excluding those which cause no loss of time other than the day, turn or shift in which the accidents happen or that require no other medical aid than first aid. This is 1,000 accidents a day. Of these all require medical aid. The average cost of medical aid is $10 per case. There are annually 90,000 claims for cash benefits. This is $900,000 a month. The average cash benefit received is $160. No cash benefits are paid for the first two weeks of disability.

There are 1,200 deaths a year. The average death benefit is $3,250. The total annual benefits are now running $12,000,000, including medical. This is $1,000,000 a month. The average compensation wage is $9 a week.

The State Industrial Commission conducts its own insurance department, the state fund, which does a business of from $1,500,000 to $2,000,- 000 a year. The compensation bureau employs about 300 people, including the state fund. About 70,000 people visit the bureau each year. There are, besides the principal office in Albany, branch offices in New York, Brooklyn, Rochester, Buffalo and Syracuse. The cost of handling claims is less than 3 per cent of benefits and less than 2 per cent of premiums. The commission maintains its own postoffice, information bureau, telephone exchange, etc. There are two general claims offices. There are six deputy commissioners besides the deputy commissioner in charge, and there are also the very important offices of chief of claims, manager of the state fund, chief actuary and cashier.

"Having an Individual Line is Such an Advantage"

Yes, and it costs very little more than the party line.

You can recall the times when you wished to make a pressing call and the line has been in use by another party.

The people who call you often must doubtless wait for the very same reason.

Telephone service is convenient, but an individual line is ultra-convenient; it is ready to serve you whenever you want.

Its cost is just a trifle more than you are now paying. Call the Contract Office and learn the exact rate.
